MOCKTAIL

What common characteristic unites all four of these beverages?

NON-ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES

TYPES OF NON-ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES

WHAT IS

BEVERAGE

BEVERAGE

A drink or beverage is a liquid meant for human consumption. Beyond quenching thirst, drinks hold significant roles in human culture.

2 TYPES OF BEVERAGE

ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE

NON-ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE

ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE

An alcoholic beverage is a drink comprising ethanol, a form of alcohol created through the fermentation of grains, fruits, or other sugar sources, commonly referred to as alcohol. Ethanol, also known as alcohol, falls under the category of depressant psychoactive drugs.

NON-ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE

A non-alcoholic beverage is a drink with minimal to zero alcohol content. These beverages are intentionally crafted to be alcohol free, targeting individuals who opt to refrain from alcohol consumption or are unable to ingest it due to different circumstances.

BEVERAGES

Non-Alcoholic

- Stimulating
- Refreshing
- Nourishing

Alcoholic

- Fermented
- Distilled

Classification of Non-Alcoholic Beverages

1 Stimulating Beverages

These are consumed to stimulate our mental and physical activities.

- Tea: Both hot and iced tea, with or without flavorings.
- Coffee: Regular coffee or decaffeinated coffee.
- Herbal Infusions: Beverages made by steeping herbs, flowers, or other plant-based ingredients in hot water.

Classification of Non-Alcoholic Beverages

2 Refreshing Beverages

These are drinks that are taken to make up for the fluid loss (due to perspiration) of our body.

- Water (Aerated or non-aerated): The most basic and essential non-alcoholic drink.
- Soft Drinks: Carbonated beverages like sodas, colas, and fruit flavored drinks.
- Mocktails: Non-alcoholic versions of cocktails, often made with juices, sodas, and various flavorings.

Classification of Non-Alcoholic Beverages

3 Nourishing Beverages

Beverage consumed to provide nutrients to the body.

- Milk and Dairy Alternatives: Various forms of milk (cow's milk, almond milk, soy milk, etc.) and milk-based beverages.
- Juices: Fruit juices, vegetable juices, smoothie and blends of different fruits and vegetables
- Chocolate drinks

LET'S PLAY, COLLABORATE AND LEARN

Rules:

1. The class is divided into 4 equal teams.
2. Each team assigns one Writer and one Board Raiser per round (roles rotate each round so everyone participates).
3. The teacher reads a drink riddle/scenario.
4. Each group must write TWO parts on their paper/board:
    - Line 1: Name of the Drink
    - Line 2: Classification (Stimulating, Refreshing, or Nourishing)
5. The first group to raise their paper high in the air with both parts written legibly gets to read their answer aloud.

Scoring:

- Correct Drink + Correct Classification = 2 points.
- If either part is incorrect, the paper goes down and the second group with their paper raised gets the steal opportunity.
- The team with the highest points after 6 rounds wins.
